THE SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

Marion and Memphis ratiroad company:

Gentlemen-Finding that it is necessary to do something by which the credit of this road may be straightened in order to resume work, and believing that the county court of Shelby county, Tennessee, are withholding the third installment of their subscription upon personal grounds to me, arising from their violent opposition to the subscription, nothwithstanding the same was carried through my influence, and finding that many counties and towns along the road whick made subscriptions, have become dissatisfied, from the fact that I have been unable to negotiate the bonds of the company, or the bonds and subscriptions made as capital stock, which has forced a suspension of the work, and believing that the interest of the company demands that I should retire from the position I have held as president and director since November 9, 1888, I therefore tencer you my resignation, to take effect immediately. All of which is respectfully submitted. is respectfully submitted.

Dhan Sir.—Your letter of the twenty-seventh instant, tendering your resignation as president and director of the Seims, Marion and Memphis rallroad company, which position you have held since the inception of the enterprise, has this day been received; and having had the due consideration of this board, is hereby accepted. The company recognize the vainable services that you have contributed to its interests, and appreciate the difficulties that have surrounded you, and which have inhibited those successful operations and satisfactory moneyed negotiations that you might have made under different and more auspicious circumstances. STABBING AFFRAY.

Worsham House, Fatally Stabs John Franklin, a Colored Waiter.

Difficulty-Statements of Both Parties Concerning the Difficulty.

About four o'clock yesterday after-About four o'clock yesterday afternoon a most deplorable affair occurred at the Worsham house, on Adams street, during which a negro waiter named John Franklin was dangerously and probably fatally stabbed by Cantain Sam Finley, the well-known steward of that hotel.
The negro, after being stabbed, ran to the stationhouse on Adams street, and gave information of the affray. He was hardly able to speak, and was ordered to lie down by the officials, while medical attendence was summoned. Drs. Willett and Frank Rice arrived in a short time, and made

AN EXAMINATION OF THE WOUND. AN EXAMINATION OF THE WOUND.

AN EXAMINATION OF THE WOUND. They found a cut on the left side, one inch wide and about four inches above the hips. The wound was probed, the physician runing his finger far into the hollow of the body, showing that the knife had entered at least six inches, and had entered the spleen. In a short time the wounded man began to suffer from pains in side and back. He became sick at the stomach, and his pulse was hardly perceptible to the touch, although timulants were administered freely. These were all BAD SYMPTOMS, and the physicians pronounced the wound mortal. Everything that could be done to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded man was done by the medical attendants.

STATEMENT OF THE WOUNDED MAN. Franklin said that he was from Delaware Point, Louisiana, where his relatives and parents reside, and that he had been a week on the steamer lity of Angusta, and was recently a dray friver in this city for John Larkin. Two or hree days ago he engaged as waiter at the Worsham house, where he met Captain Finley, the stewart. When asked as to the CAUSE OF THE DIFFICULTY.

he said that Mr. Finiey had been cursing him, and yesterday afternoon met him in the hall of the hotel, when the difficulty was renewed by Mr. Finiey. He (Franklin) talked back, and Mr. Finiey drew a dirk-knife and stabbed him in the left side. CAPT. FINLEY'S STATEMENT. The following is said to be the facts of the difficulty, as stated by Mr. Finley at the stationhouse, last night, he having been arrested by Officer Pendegrast at about six o'clock:

The colored man, Franklin, and some other waiter of the hotel, were found by him playing cards in one of the rooms of the house.

Mr. Finley ordered them to QUIT PLAYING, and taking up the cards, destroyed them.

Franklin seemed to object, and to take offense at Mr. Finley for attempting to interrupt the game. He used insolent language, of such a character that Mr. Finley felt compelled to order him to come to the office and get paid off and be discharged. Mr. Finley started down the stairway toward the office, followed by Franklin, and as they were going in that direction Franklin suddenly struck him, felling him to the ground, and then jumped on him. During the scuffle

MR. FINLEY DREW HIS KNIFE

MR. FINLEY DREW HIS KNIFE MR. FINLEY DREW HIS KNIFE and stabled Franklin, who immediately ran away. This took place at about four o'clock. and at six o'clock Mr. Finley surrendered himself to the officers and was conveyed to the stationhouse, where he will remain until to-morrow, when a preliminary investigation will be had, probably before Esquire Winters or some other magistrate.

Last night a large number of friends visited Mr. Finley at the Adams-street stationhouse, and expressed regret that the difficulty occurred. Mr. Finley says he only drew his knife to compel the negro to get off of him, and as he was stunned by the blow, did not cut the assailant with any desire to kill him.
